ABOUT PRAGUE

Prague is the capital as well as the largest city in the Czech Republic also the 13th largest city in the European Union. Also it is the historical capital of Bohemia. The population of Prague is about 1.3 million people, while its metropolitan area is estimated to have a population of 2.7 million. The city has a pleasant oceanic climate, with comparatively warm summers and chilly winters. Prague is a political, cultural and economic centre of central Europe filled with a rich history.

As the city is known for its magical and rich history, Prague's magical atmosphere is produced through the coexistence of the buildings, sculptures, and also monuments of ten centuries. Some of the monuments include: rotundas, proud gothic cathedrals, renaissance places, and rich baroque churches. In the beginning of 19th century, Bernardo Bolzano counted 103 towers and spires in Prague on all of the cathedrals and buildings and that why people started calling Prague: The golden city of hundred spires.

Main attractions in the city include Prague Castle, Charles Bridge, Old Town Square with the Prague astronomical clock, the Jewish Quarter, Petrin hill and Vysehrad. The extensive historic centre of Prague has been included in the UNESCO list of World Heritage Sites since the late 1992. The city has more than ten major museums, along with numerous theatres, galleries, cinemas and other historical exhibits as main tourist attraction.

One more attraction adds class to the city is Czech beer that has a long history, with brewing taking place in Brevnov Monastery in 993. Prague is famous for being the historical breweries Staropramen. Prague is also famous for hosting the Czech Beer Festival (Cesky pivni festival), which is known to be the largest beer festival in the Czech Republic and that is to be held for 17 days every year in May. At the More than 70 brands of Czech beer can be tasted in this festival and also there are several microbrewery festivals throughout the year as well.

Almost one-half of the national income from tourism is spent in Prague. Since 1990's the city is a common filming location for international productions such as Hollywood and Bollywood motion pictures. The combination of architecture, low costs and the existing motion picture infrastructure of the city attracted international film production companies. Being an historical heritage Prague has become a tourist attraction and people fall in love with the city. Keeping it in mind so many organizers hosts numerous medical and scientific events in the city and now it has become one among major host cities for international conferences.

We welcome you to join us in Prague to discuss the Pros and Cons of psychiatry and mental health and simultaneously explore the historical heritage and the beautiful capital of Czech Republic.
