About Destination Vancouver, Canada

In the Lower Mainland of British Columbia, Vancouver is a significant city in western Canada. The city has 662,248 residents according to the 2021 Canadian census, an increase from 631,486 in 2016. It was the province's most populous city. The Greater Vancouver region was the third-largest metropolitan area in Canada in 2021 with a population of 2.6 million. The Lower Mainland, which includes Greater Vancouver and the Fraser Valley, has a population of more than 3 million people. With more than 5,700 inhabitants per square kilometre, Vancouver has the fourth-highest population density in North America and the highest in Canada.

One of the most linguistically and ethnically diverse cities in Canada is Vancouver, where 54.5 percent of citizens identify as members of visible minorities and 49.3 percent of residents do not use English as a first language. It consistently ranks as one among the world's and Canada's most livable cities. Vancouver is one of the most expensive cities in both Canada and the globe in terms of housing affordability. Vancouver wants to become the world's greenest city. Vancouverism is the city's approach to urban design and development.
